We proved ourselves to be the "wise fools". Wise in that we did open our eyes, we did begin to comprehend our future.

Foolish, in that we yet saw no real purpose and could not see the graver side of the situation. Probably like every other sophomore class in BHS's lower case history, we took an increasingly active part in school activities. Soon we, too, will respond to the increasingly scholastic pressures and join the hackneyed routine.

This year, we initiated the new tradition of sponsoring the B-Week (basketball homecoming) Dance in February. Among our other activities were the float for Homecoming, oft-winner of the Baron Pep Sword, and the establishment of a full quarter of Baron school spirit.
