

Planning the Mardi Gras Masquerade Ball, selling Halloween Grams and chewing gum, and de-barring teachers are some of the activities the Freshmen class, with the leadership of their officers, have accomplished this year. Tara Kreutz, head of the all-girl alliance, admitted "I was afraid of the competition, but I knew someone had to do it and I'm glad it was me." Vice President Tina Parker said, "It's been fun and you also meet a whole lot of new people." Secretary Erika Deykes and treasurer Christina Rivera both said they would definitely will go for office next year. Historian Joanna Weiner said, "It's been fun as well as exciting." Class representatives Danielle Pollard and Linda DaSilva claimed its been fun serving in office. The freshmen have a lot of class spirit, not bad for being the new kids on the block!

Freshmen class officers: Tara Kreutz, Vice President Tina Parker, Sponsor Carol Keim, Historian Joanna Weiner, Treasurer Christina Rivera and Secretary Erika Deykes.

Douglas Sommer, teacher of mechanical drawing and electronics, becomes an innocent victim.

BEFORE

Historian Joanna Weiner helps Sommer begin the difficult task. Always trim your beard before you shave it!

Mr. Sommer trying to complete the lethal task ... Watch out don't cut yourself!

DURING

Mission accomplished. Sommer is baby faced by the Freshmen class and vengeful students. This contest helped the Freshmen class earn over $400.
