Throughout the year, the numbers three through five slots on the ladies' ladder were in flux between seniors Regan Thompson, Leah Helms, and sophomore Kelsey Downer. As they bounced up and down through the season, they eventually won enough matches to earn a varsity letter. Regan finally ended up in the #3 slot to finish the season. In the #6 ladder slot sat freshman Jo Carlisle who had the second best ladies singles' record for the season at 4-1. Senior Bethany Downer contributed in the #7 slot, playing in enough varsity matches to earn her first varsity letter. The junior varsity members led by returning sophomore netter Amber Flores played successful matches throughout the season. Newcomer sophomore Megan Mein and freshmen Nancy Valles and Brandy Perry spent the season working out the kinks in their tennis games. The ladies finished out the season 2-5 paying for the heavy competition they received from the Division I teams.
