

Kuya,
 The best thing about having a big bro like him is that I knew that I always have a friend. He's that brother that will look over your shoulders and lead you to the right direction. I wouldn't know so much if I didn't have a brother like him. From fighting over little things to playing basketball at our backyard. Keep doing your thang on the court bruhh!

Yo boi,
 JB
 LOVE YOU BRUHH!!

Dear Jojie,

I can still remember when you were still a little young boy already playing with your basketball. Your persistence paid off, but there is still a lot of room for improving your basketball skills. I hope that you will not forget what your Mom and I always tell you that your love for the game should only be next to your academics. As we have said, you have to finish a four-year degree in college because we believe that is a better inheritance that we can give you that we are sure nobody can take away from you.

Material things can be lost, but a good education will be yours forever. You have come to another milestone in your life.

Soon you will be a high school graduate. Soon you will be going to college. Be sure to pick a good school and a degree that you will love, and keep improving your basketball skills too.

So far, job well done. Carry on!

Congratulations!

With Much Love,

Vicky, JB, Marivi, Mom and Dad

Kuya,
 I am so thankful to God that you're my kuya. I'm just so proud of you and of all the accomplishments that you have achieved already. We know that there are a whole lot more blessing coming into your life. Always remember that I love you so much and I will always be here for you.

Love,
 Vicky
